I am so loss for words. Marvin, and family of Liz, I am so very sorry for your loss. Liz and I were great friends. We shared so much, laughter, tears, and many conversations and even a few scoldings. Their wedding rehearsal was one, to remember. I had on dress pants, all fairness there was snow on the ground. Pants weren't allowed, as I was reminded by Liz, before and after the Preacher spoke to me. We talked at work, in class, at home and all hours. My husband was on TDY and Marvin was working. Liz and I watched Jerry Springer, OMG, we would laugh and talk about how ignorant the guest were. We joked about being sisters. I have cried with her ,on more than one occasion and now my dear friend and sister forever I am crying for you. I pray that you did not suffer and know that one day we will be laughing together again. So you rest in peace with your babies and your mom. Love you, Shirley "B"

Like the soothing whisper of the wind
Blows by too quickly, beginning to end
You provide a soothing comfort, to all you touch
Especially to those, you loved so much
I guess a soothing breeze, in Heaven was needed
So blow on, gentle wind, for God's Word you heeded
And may those who remain, continue to stay on their knees
And be reminded of your love, by every gentle breeze.
Rest well. Danny Sampson (Dennis and Joe)

Heart so heavy just knowing that your presence is not here on this earth. We may not have conversated everyday, week, month, or year, but I am blessed to be able to have called you my friend. Since we met at the hospital and was able to work side by side we became closer than ever to the point we became family; cousins. You were an awesome nurse and you were always there when I needed someone to talk to, lean on, and just pour my heart out. You knew how to make me smile and bring out the life in any situation. You will forever be a loved person. Rest easy my Lizzie Pooh, rest easy. May your Blossom continue to be in others. I love you my friend.
