Wow, just learning of your transition from this world to be with God. You're presence here on Earth was so amazing. So grateful to have known you. You were an angel here, but God needed you up there. You have your wings now, fly high beloved.

Mr. Carter was my second grade teacher and one of my favorite teachers I've ever had. He was such a sweet person and amazing influence on myself and my fellow classmate back then. He also taught my older brother before me and we both often shared memories of being in his classroom. And about how fast he could run during recess. I am now 24 and I still have fond memories of Mr. Carter, it's such a sad loss. I wish all of his loved ones well and I know he is in heaven watching over everyone.

I just can't process this. Tarrance and I has worshipped in church on several occasions. I have had the opportunity to sing with him also. Tarrance you have gained your wings Prophet and I know you are singing in the heavenly choir. You are greatly missed and there will always be a place for you in my heart. Rest Prophet. 😭
