Patsy B Taylor posted:

Jean loved LIFE itself. One of my fondest memories is when my husband (Apostle Boyland Taylor), her older brother Roy and his wife Geneva, and her traveled to Florida to the Holy Land Experience. During this trip we visited Gatorland. Much to our surprise Jean mounted a live alligator and took a picture. She had so much fun. We all enjoyed that trip. I am the last remaining individual of that group. I will miss her as I miss them all; however, the memories of good times such as this is what we hold fast, and it gives us strength to face another day without the ones we love. The most important aspect of leaving this world is the testimony that we have a relationship with Christ. This was their testimony, and I will surely keep it as mine. May God bless and comfort the family and give strength in this hour of bereavement.

Words can't express the emotions I had when Bettina called an informed me earlier today, an what the loss of Ms. Bettie means to me. For the past 9/10yrs or so she's been a vital part of my life. From day 1 when she adopted me, my mom an my great grandmother at the dress shop til now she's impressed an impacted my life in so many ways. She was always there for spiritual support, love and encouragement. An her prayers helped me through some very difficult times in my life. I'll miss here greatly.
